NUMB. 490

TUESDAY, JANUARY 18. 1737.

N^o. 408.

Edinburgh, Jan. 11.

AST Week Dr. William Wisheart, who was lately elected Principal of the University, was also nominated one of the Ministers of the City; at the same Time Mr. Alexander Webster, one of the Ministers of Culrois, was also elected to be one of the Ministers of this Town.

Patrick Trail, Journeyman Wright, who has for some time been confined in the Cattle, on an Information that he was Accessory to the hanging of John Brown, was last Week bailed out.

The Close of last Week Alexander Balingal, John Hendry, and Thomas Summers, all three Serjeants to Mr. Hamilton, Peruke-makers in this City, were convened before the Magistrates, being accused by Mr. Henry Osburn, Surgeon, of attacking him in the Streets in the Night Time, with an Intention (he alleged) to rob him; and after a full Hearing, they were fined 40s. Stirling each, committed to Prison for two Months, there afterwards to remain till they find Surety in 10l. Stirling each, that they will be more observant of the Peace in Time coming.

This Morning died, in the 58th Year of his Age, an eminent Physician and worthy Man, Dr. Francis Pringle, universally esteemed, and therefore universally regretted, the youngest and the last surviving of six Sons of the late Sir Robert Pringle of Inchmahon, Baronet, viz. Sir John Pringle, Lord Chancellor, Mr. Robert Pringle, sometime Secretary of War, Mr. Thomas Pringle, Writer to the Signet, and Mr. Archibald Pringle, who died young, and the other who not only were eminent for their Parts, but distinguishing themselves in their several Employments, but more so for the nobler Qualities of humanity and good Temper, with the strictest Regard to Justice and Truth, and thereby were illustrious Examples, how compatible are stern Honesty and good Nature in the same Person, and how they may be eminently shown, the one in a publick Character, the other in a private Life: As for this Gentleman's Character in the Way of his Profession, we need say nothing, nor doubting, but that the Society whereof he was a Member, and for some Years President, did do the same Justice to his Memory, that the Faculty of Advocates did to his great and good Brother, who lately deceased.

Application has been made to the Annual Convention of the Royal Boroughs, by several of the Merchants of Edinburgh and Glasgow, in behalf of themselves and others dealing in foreign Trade, for making a Highway in a direct Line from Edinburgh to Glasgow, sufficient to bear the Weight of all sorts of Wheel Carriages; by which they propose Trade and Commerce would be promoted, and the united Kingdom, reap many other considerable Advantages.

Berwick, Jan. 8th, 1737.

WH^o the Subject of the following Character was one who had not Ambition answerable to Merit, nor ever affected to render himself conspicuous in the World; yet, I am confident, that the few who had the Happiness of knowing him, will be struck of it will appear over-strain'd or romantic. And from me, I only desire, it may be taken up as a Mark of the just Regard which I have for the Memory of a deceased Relation, for whom, when alive, I had always the entirest Affection and Regard.

I am, S I R,

Your most humble Servant,

G. R.

On the 3d Inst. about Four o'Clock in the Morning, in the 59th Year of his Age, died the Rev. James Allan, Minister of the Gospel at Eymouth; a Person, who, from his earliest Years, devoted himself to these Studies, which qualify for being a Minister of Jesus Christ, an Office, which, from his Entry into it, he discharged with the utmost Fidelity and Application.

In his Youth, he formed to himself, upon the best Authorities, a Set of religious and moral Principles, which he adhered to with a perfect Steadiness and Uniformity till his last Breath: These he did not set up as invidious Marks of Distinction, or maintain with an over-heated Zeal, but was equally industrious and happy, in applying them to the valuable Purposes of real Piety and Virtue.

The warmest of his Passions, were Devotion to his Creator, and a Concern for the Good of Souls: He was possess'd of all the generous, human Dispositions, in their full Extent; universally and undistiguishingly good-natured.

From the natural Sweetness and Gaiety of his Temper, joined to an entire Resignation to the Supreme Will, and a Contempt of the World, he enjoyed that Relish of the present Moment, and unconcern about Futurity, pursued by most of Mankind, in a very different Course of Action.

All these good Qualities, were attended with a Simplicity and Ingenuity in his Conversation and Manners; which, to the just Esteemers of Nature, was an additional Recommendation, and by removing all Distrust or Suspicion of Design, made him beloved completely and without reserve.

The Removal of a facetious, open-hearted, honest Friend, gives the liveliest Concern to all his Relations and Acquaintances; and the Loss of the best of Parents, exercises the hereditary Virtues of his Family.

Norwich, Jan. 15. By a Letter from Leostoff Yesterday, we have the following Account.

Leostoff, Jan. 14. This may advise you, that his Majesty, with the Fleet of Yachts, are now at the Back of our Sands; and if the Wind continues as it is, we expect he will land here about 12.

Since the above Account, a Messenger was dispatched from Beccles, to Col. Warburton, and the rest of the Officers here, confirming the said good News: Upon which a Party of Dragoons were immediately sent to meet and escort his Majesty on the Road.

This Morning I received the joyful News, that Yesterday about 12, his Majesty landed at Leostoff, and went into Mr. Jeakes's open Chaise, and a Pair of Horses, which carry'd him off the Sands to Mr. Jeakes's House, where he refresh'd himself about an Hour; during which Time Mr. Artis's four Horses were added, and then set out for Ipswich.

Sir Charles Turner met his Majesty with 2 Coaches at Munford Bridge, and was kindly received by his Majesty, who returned him Thanks for his great Kindness in Meeting him. His Excellency Horatio Walpole landed at the same Time, and lay at Kirby-Cane last Night; and he and Sir Charles set out for London this Morning at Four.

Before his Majesty landed, about 40 Sailors in their white Shirts went into the Sea, some up to their Chins, and as soon as the Boat that his Majesty was in came at them, they took it out the Sea, and carry'd it a considerable Way, and set his Majesty down, with the greatest Acclamations of the People that ever were known; a great many had the Honour to kiss his Hand.

I hear that in the late Hurrican, there was so great a high Tide at Aldeburg in Suffolk, as greatly endangered the whole Town; that all the Streets were under Water, and that they were forced to drive down Piles and Boards to keep several of the Houses from being washed away.

The Rev. Mr. Reddington, Rector of Rackheath, and Master of the Free-School, was on Monday last presented to the Rectory of Heathel in Norfolk, reckoned worth 130l. a Year, by Miles Branthwayt, Esq;

I hear that on Tuesday last one Robert Cann, a Sawyer at Bungay, barbarously murdered one Robert Ling, a Miller; that the Coroner's Inquest have found it Wilful Murder, and that the said Cann is fled for the same.

S I R,

AS the inclosed Poem was born amidst the rough Ideas of Storms and Shipwrecks, I once more expose it to what is as Merciless and subject to Variation, viz. the Publick Censure. Tho' its possible, as its a little suited to the Season, it may not be quite unacceptable to your Readers.

Norwich, Jan. 10.

Reflections on a sudden Change of Weather. Walking by the Sea Side.

HOW calm and beauteous was the rising Morn'
All Nature smil'd; nothing but gentle Whispers

Fill'd the soft Air; the Sun with rosy Blushes
Deck'd the glad East, and prodigal of Light,
Struck with distinguish'd Brightness Heav'n's high Arch,

And with fresh Fires illumin'd yon spacious Concave.
But now the Scene is chang'd, and the big Cloud
Hangs low'ring in the Air, the noisy South

Blows the approaching Tempest in the Ear
Of the fear'd Mariner: The forked Light'nings
Blaze horrible along the gloomy Void,
And the loud Thunder bellows thro' the Air:

The swelling Sea, methinks, runs wond'rous high:
The jarring Winds rush down and bare the Deep,
Heaping such mighty Mountains on the Main,
As seem to threaten dreadful Devastation,

At least t'intrude upon this peaceful Shore
As wanting Room. And yon tall Ship that dar'd
The unseen Danger, with her jolly Crew,
Who the last Moment grasp'd the friendly Bowl,

Fearless of ought to come. Despairing now,
They leave their fruitless Toil, and turn their Eyes
Towards their own dear hospitable Shore,
Where these poor Cottages securely stand,

And mock their Danger: While their distant Friends
The dear-lov'd Names of Parents, Children, Wives,
Make dark the Path of Death, with sad Remembrance
Of Pleasures past, and unavailing Promise

Of Bliss to come. But most unhappy he,
The Youth, who sighs for Amaryll's Charms;
She who in tender Accents strove to tell
The Story of her Love; while on her Breast

Reclin'd, he sought to ease her inward Sorrow,
And with the Hopes of joyful meeting, sooth'd
Her Soul reluctant to a last Farewell.

The uncommon Success, above Thirty Years last past, of so much famed and only true Original
ROYAL CHYMICAL WASH-BALL,

FOR beautifying the Face, Neck and

Hands; hath induced many Envious Persons, not only in every Part of London, but in many Places in the Country to sell a Counterfeit White Ball (which may prove prejudicial as well as ineffectual) in Imitation of the true one.

To prevent as much as possible any Mistakes in Purchasing our Customers, we give this special Notice, That the Sort are now sold only at Mrs. King's Toyshop, the Blue Boy, against the Cross-Keys Tavern in Cornhill; and at Mr. Giles's, a Milliner, at the Blue Ball near Hercules Pill Alley, by the Temple in Fleet-street. Price 1*s.* each Ball, 13 to the Dozen; but no Allowance for less than 12 Balls at a Time, nor will they ever be sold any where else, except by the first given in these Advertisements of it.

Their true and real Virtues have been sufficiently attested all the Years they have been sold by Publication, and the so, as they are still more than ever used and admired by the Sexes of the best Quality, and many Thousands of Gentlemen and others, for making the Skin so delicately soft and smooth as not to be paralleled by any Wash or Wash-ball, &c. of any Kind or Form; for these Balls are indeed real Beautifiers of the Skin, by taking off all Deformities, as Tetter, Ringworm, Morpew, Sunburn, Scurf, Pimples, Pits, or Redness of Small-Pox, and keeping it of a laking and extreme Whiteness they soon alter red or rough Hands, are admirable in the Head, they not only give a most exquisite Sharpeness to the Razor, but to comfort the Brain and Nerves, as to prevent catching Cold. They are of a grateful and pleasant Smell without the least Grain of Mercury, and may be used with their Safety.
